CONGRESS.

King David Welcomed by the Senate and House of Representatives.

HIS MAJESTY'S SPEECH.

Passage of the General Appropriations Through Their First Stage.

SEVERE DEMOCRATIC CENSURE

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18, 1874. On motion of Mr. CAMERON, (rep.) of Pa., the reading of the journal was dispensed with.

Mr. CAMERON stated that King Kalakaua was in Chamber, and suggested that the Senate call upon him there. He moved that a recess be taken until one o'clock, and that the Senate proceed in a body to the House of Representatives at fifteen minutes past twelve o'clock for the purpose of taking part in the ceremony attending the reception of the

The Senators then proceeded to the President's room, where they were presented to the royal visitor, and at a quarter past twelve o'clock progeeded to the House of Representatives in a body, headed by Vice President Wilson and Sergeant-at-

Arms French.

At thirty-five minutes past twelve the Senate returned to the Chamber, when Vice President Wilson took the chair, and said, if there was no objection, the session of the Senate would be considered as Senate adjourn to-day it be to meet on Monday next. Agreed to.

He then moved that the Senate adjourn, but gave way for a motion for an executive session, and at twenty minutes to one the Senate proceeded to the consideration of executive business. At ten minutes past one P. M. the doors were reopened and the Senate adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18, 1874. In the opening prayer by the Chaplain he alluded to the expected visit to the House to-day of King Kalakana, and prayed for the Divine favor on him-

There was an immense crowd of spectators in the galleries and in the corridors, and on motion of Mr. PLATT, of Virginia, ladies were admitted ENTRANCE OF THE SENATE.

Punctually at a quarter past tweive (the hour fixed for the reception) the Doorkeeper of the House announced the presence of the Senate of the United States, and thereupon the members of that body, headed by Vice President Wilson, filed into the hall and took the seats assigned to them being the three front rows in the eastern section.

THE KING COMES.
In ten minutes afterward the fall of the Speaker's gavel indicated the presence of the King at the main door, and then, after the Senators and members had risen to their feet, and while they remained standing, the King, supported on either side by Senator Cameron and Representative Orth, chairmen of the respective committees of loreign affairs, walked down the main stale and took a position in the area in front of the Speaker's chair.

committees of foreign grains, wasked down the main alsie and took a position in the area in front of the Speaker's chair.

The Speaker's chair.

Senator Cameron then said—"I have the honor to present to the Speaker the King of Hawaii."

The Speaker, addressing the King, said:—
"Your Majesty—on behalf of the American Congress I welcome you to these halls. The Senators from our States and the Representatives of our people unite in cordial congratulations upon your aspicious journey and in the expression of the gratification and pleasure afforded by your presence in the capital of the nation as the nation's guest. Your Majesty's appearance among us is the first instance in which a reigning sovereign has set foot upon the soil of the United States, and it is a significant circumstance that the viait comes to us from the West, and not from the East. Propably no single event could more strikingly typity the century's progress in Your Majesty's country and in our own than the scene here and now transpiring. The rapid growth of the Republic on its Western coast has greatly enlarged our intercourse with your insular Kingdom, and has led us all to acknowledge your wisdom and beneficence as a ruler and your exalted virtues as a n.an. Our whole people cherish for your subjects the most friendly regard. They trust and believe that the relations of the two constries will always be as peaceful as the great sea that rolls between us—uniting and not dividing us."

The King's Repty.

THE MINIST AND THE KING'S REPLY.

THE KING'S REPLY.

The King had a momentary conference with one of his attenuants, Judge Allen, and then the latter, expressing his regret that the King was so aimicted with a cold and hoarseness that he was unable to read his reply to the Speaker's address, proceeded to read it for him as follows:

"Mr. Speaker. For your kind words of welcome

"Mr. Sefarer—For your kind words of welcome I most coratally thank you. For this distinguished mark of confidence I tender to the honorable Senate and House of Representatives my highest sentiments of regard. It is in accord with the very courteous and generous treatment which I have received from the Executive Department of the government and from all the people whom I have had the pieasure to meet since I landed on the shores of the Pacific. I appreciate the compinentary terms in which the honorable Speaker has referred to me personally. For our success in government and for our progress in a higher civilization we are very much indebted to the government and people of tais great country. Your laws and your civilization have been in a great degree our model. I reciprocate most cordully the hope for the continuance and growth of friendly relations between the two countries. I am most happy, gentlemen, to meet you on this occasion."

am most happy, gentlemen, to meet you on this occasion."

The Speaker then came down from the Chair and was personally introduced to the King. After an exchange of courtesies the Speaker returned to the chair, knocked with the gavei, calling members again to their feet, and the King retured as he had entered, followed by the members of the Senate. The speciators dispersed and the House proceeded with its regular business.

The REGULAR ORDER RESUMED.

On motion of Mr. Phillips, (rep.) of Kansas, the Senate but for the relief of certain settlers on the public lands who suffered from grasscoppers was taken up, briedy discussed and passed.

Mr. HURLBUT, (rep.) of Ill., from the Railroad Committee, reported a bill, chartering a double track ireight railway company from tide water on the Atlantic to the Missouri River, and to limit the rates of freight thereon. Ordered to be printed and recommitted.

THE APPROPRIATION BILL.

The APPROPRIATION BILL.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. E. H. Roberts, (rep.) of N. Y., in the chair, on the Legislative Appropriation bill. A paragraph in relation to the mileage of United States marshals and deputy marshals gave rise to a long discussion, in the course of which the Department of Justice was characterized by Mr. BECR, (dem.) of Ky., as being "honeycombed with trands."

a long discussion, in the course of which the Department of Justice was characterized by Mr. BECK, (dem.) of Ky., as being "honeycombed with grands."

The Western district of Arkansas and the District of North Carolina were aliaded to by Mr. Sperr, (dem.) of Pa., as being "run by political thieses and vampires and scoundrels."

On the other hand the Department of Justice was desended by Messra. Hall, (rep.) of Me., and Maynard, (rep.) of Tenn.

The result of the discussion and vote was that the provision in the last Army Appropriation bill prohibiting the allowance of mileage is not to be construed as applying to the legal travelling fees of United States marshals or deputy marshals. No lees, however, are to be allowed for constructive mileage, and all claims for mileage are to be accompanied by sworn proof that the distance for which mileage is claimed was actually and necessarily travelied by the officer.

ADEPARTMENT OF INJUSTICE.

When the paragraph for the Department of Justice was reached, Mr. BECK, of Kentucky, moved to strike it out, and renewed his attack upon that department, declaring that the Aktorney General was a more guilty man in connection with the affairs of Louisiana than Judge Durell himself, who had reagged and contessed his guilt. He charged that the Department of Justice had appealed from decisions of the Court of Claims in cotton cases, and had dismissed appeals wherever the friends of the department were employed and had their ices arranged; that the department had used the army for the basest of purposes, and was a department of injustice instead of a Department of Justice. When the proper time came to would, if he got the opportunity, make good what he had said about the Attorney General and the Department of the tat the Attorney General and the Department of the committees of the expenditure of its contingent find.

Mr. Gaspired, (rep.) of Ohio, replied to Messra. Beck and Speer, and criticised the lact that the Attorney General and the Department of the government. He declared, whil

Ar Cox, (dem.) of N. Y. (from his seat)—The election brought them down. (Laughter.)

Mr Garpield (continuing)—It that gentleman (Mr. Speer) sees anything wrong in the bill let him point it out and I will help him to set it right. But I cannot answer an indictment against the universe. I am tired of this everlasting clamor, of this vagueness and mere hurran to which we are treated every hour, and if we do not get up and roar in answer we are told that there is no economy in the House. They say to us, "Wast till we come in and we will show you our economy." The country did wait and let you show your economy for many long years until the government had run down and touched bottom in bankruitey and protest. In that broken condition the republican party saved the government from degradation, and slavery, and ruin, and treason, and rebellion, and litted it up into the high of freedom and into respect for the rights of man. Bark! said he to the democrats, but remember the glories that you bark at.

Mr. Spees, of Pennsylvania, replied to Mr. Garfield He would not submit to a rebuke from that gentieman or to a lecture from him on his (speer's) past course or that of his party. Perhaps they had erred, but the man who lifted the rod of correction over them should be a man along whose pathway the light alone had shone and hot one who had come out of the mists and clouds of suspicion if not of guilt.

Mr. Garpield (overhearing the question)—I say it Mr. Spees (overhearing the question)—I say it Mr. Mr. Spees (overhearing the question)—I say it Mr. Mr. Spees (overhearing the question)—I say it Mr. Mr.

Mr. Garfield (to a member beside him)—What is that?

Mr. Spee (overhearing the question)—I say it should not come from a gentleman who came out of the mist and clouds of suspicion, I not of guit. If I was fighting the stars I beg the gentleman to believe that I was not fighting him. If I was discourteous I withdraw the remark which would bear that interpretation. But I am here not to be reduked while in the line of my public duty, and I say that it is not the right of my spoile duty, and I say that it is not the right of my spoile duty, and I say that it is not the right of my spoile duty, and I say that it is not the right of my spoile duty, and I say that it is not the right of my spoile duty, and I say that it is not no fine the gentleman from Ohio has to answer supercitiously, at least in manner and in tone, if not in language, a question properly put by a person properly authorized to put it.

Mr. Garfield—Any teaching that it is necessary for me to receive I will try to receive in due time. I ask for a vote.

The motion to strike out the paragraph was rejected.

time. I ask for a vote.

The motion to strike out the paragraph was rejected.

THE AMENDMENTS.

Finally the bill was completed in Committee of the Whole and was reported to the House. There a discussion arose in reference to the rent of a house on E street for the use of the Post Office Department, it having been alleged that the rent-$4,200 a year—was exorbitant, and that Alexander R. Shepherd was the owner.

Mr. Tyner, (rep.) of ind., deended the action of the Post Office Department in the matter, while his colleague (Mr. Wilson) called attention to the fact that this same property had sold only a year or two since for only $1,3000.

Finally the vote was taken on an amendment reducing the appropriation for the rent from $4,200 to $2,200, and it was agreed to.

A vote was then taken on an amendment abolishing one captain, three heutenants and twenty-seven privates, employed as Capitol police, and substituting for them twenty-one watchmen. The amendment was rejected.

All the other amendments to the bill were agreed to in gross, and the bill was passed.

Mr. G. F. Hoas, (rep.) of Mass., offered a resolution permitting the Select Committee on the Condition of the South to proceed either as a committee or a sub-committee to Louisiana to make investigations. Adopted.

Mr. Forn, (rep.) of ill., announced the death last night, at Norfolk, Va., of his colleague (Mr. Rice), and moved that a committee of five members be appointed to accompany the remains to lilinois. Adopted, and Messrs. Fort and Ward, of Minosis, Clymer, of Pennsylvania; Burrows, of Michigan, and Southard, of Ohio, were appointed as such committee.

The House then, at ten minutes to five o'clock, illinois. Adopted, and Messrs. Fort and Ward, of Illinois; Clymer, of Pennsylvania; Burrows, of Michigan, and Southard, of Ohio, were appointed as such committee.

The House then, at ten minutes to five o'clock, adjourned until Monday.

SPIRITUALISM.

A NEW MEDIUM DISCOVERED IN WESTERN NEW

[From the Rochester Democrat, Dec. 17.] Since the alleged spirit from the other side of the dark river rapped out its first message to mortals, through the medium of Miss Fox, the world has become greatly agitated upon the subject, and the human mind has been carnestly engaged in endeavoring to explain the phenomenon. Any new developments of the question or any variafrom Spencerport that a certain young lady in that vicinity had manifested the power to cause a table or a chair to hop up and move around the room, or to the its assent or dissent to any proposal, and also to cause some unknown power to rap out intelligible answers to propose! questions, a reporter was at once despatched to sacertain the ladies of the case. Stepping abourd the train our reporter was soon seated in the residence of Mr. Spring, a good-natured and well-to-do farmer. The subject was at once opened. It was a mystery to aim and to all the people, and it had made quite a stir in the immediate neighborhood. The facts are, briefly, that one evening some time since a young gentleman proposed to form a circle. Those in the room did so. A small table was placed in the centre of the room, and on it their named were placed. Among those present was hiss Carrie S, rung, and it was soon disc-vered that the table readily obeyed her, while it was deaf to the questions of others. She has been ill or some time past, but is now recovering, and is possessed of an exceedinary nervous temperament. A great many questions were propounded and answered, either by the tipping of the table in a specified direction or by raps. The news soon spread, and every evening since, and sometimes during the day, the circles were formed and the table moving and rapping produced. A chair was also made to trip upon its light iantastic leg. Our reporter inquired particularly as to whether there was any human agency used to produce these movements, and he was informed by Mr. Spring that he had taken great care to watch for the workings of a human fland, but could discover and was sure there was none used, last sunday evening two young gantiemen, who did not believe in such things, seated taemselves upon the table and used their best efforts to prevent it from moving, but, under the touch of Miss Spring, it moved. The young lady does not pretend to be a medium; does not pretend to know by what means she produces the results alove referred t from Spencerport that a certain young lacy in that vicinity had manifested the power to cause a

COLUMBIA'S CONQUEST.

Last evening the range of buildings adjoining Columbia College, Forty-ninth street and Fourth avenue, and known as the "School of Mines," was briffiantly illuminated. Evidently the groups of handsomely dressed ladies and festive looking cavaliers who thronged the enclosure of "old Columbia" and made their way into the new buildings were not intent upon learning the mysteries of the silurian period or of probing the secrets of sand formations. Soft strains of music proceeded from the drawing rooms of the School of Mines, sand formations. Soft strains of music proceeded from the drawing rooms of the School of Mines, and the bubble of happy laughter on the staircases, the merry badinage between the students and their guests all proclaimed a festive affair. It was a double felevable, for the new rooms being opened was made the occasion of a bail and the presentation of silver prize cups to the Winners of the Saratoga Begatta. At eight o'clock precisely the excellent band in attendance played a joyous march, and to its inspiring strains the promenaders proceeded upon their inspection of the new building; it seemed, however, as it they were more intent upon direction and the display of society graces than a strict examination of surveyors' telescopes and the scientific paraphernalis with which the building was plentifully supplied. At nine o'clock the "drawing room" was uncomfortably crowded with the elite, and then Professor Van Amringe stepped upon a slightly raised platform, festooned with American flags, and made the presentation of the cups to the Columbia boys in a neat speech. Captain Reese received the gifts in a modest and appropriate manner, and on behalf of nimself and comrades tranked the students of the college and the School of Mines for their consideration. There was a good deal of enthusiasm manifested, which, it seemed, could only be quenched by dancing, and so the ladies and young gentlemen present proceeded immediately to suppress their feelings in that manner. The company separated at a late hour, all agreeing as to the pleasure enjoyed on the occasion.

nour, an agreeing as to the pleasure enjoyed on the occasion. The cups presented, it may be mentioned, were of silver, very chaste in design, made by Tiffany & Co., and inscribed with the ionowing legend:— "Students of Columbia College and School of Mines to ——"(here follows name of recipient).

WESTON'S GREAT WALK.

Yesterday the indomitable Edward Payson Weston continued his pace on the track of the Rink at Newark, and with the best possible prospects of succeeding in his tramp of 500 miles in six days. As the close of the race approaches attendance increases and greatly encourages the plucky pedestrian. Before retiring yesterday morning, at little after one o'clock, he had made his 35 mile. As intimated in yesterday's Herald, his greates lear is that outsiders, who have bets on the race, will interiere. He is especially airaid that those persons who have wagered large sums against him will endeavor, if they see a likelihood of his succeeding, to incapacitate him some way, by throwing red peoper upon the in some way, by throwing red pepper upon the track, or otherwise. In the atternoon he was in excellent health and spirits, and, after tiding over the 400th mile, seemed happier than any "clam at high water." He was confident of success. So were his attendants. It was allotted that he should complete 430 miles by midnight, so as to leave only 70 miles to be rounded to-day. The attendance yesterday was the best since Weston began.

BOILER EXPLOSION IN NEWARK. NOBODY DANGEROUSLY HURT-THOUSANDS OF

DOLLARS' WORTH OF PROPERTY DESTROYED. About four o'clock yesterday morning a boiler in the Newark Steel Works, at the foot of River street, in that city, exploded with a terrific report and with results of serious character, though not involving loss of life. It was a horizontal tubular boiler, ten feet long, thirtysix inches in diameter, and contained fiftythree two-inch tubes. At the time of the explosion, fortunately, there were in the building only James Mansfield, the watenman, and Thomas Lambert, the engineer, and they were only twenty leet from the boiler, which was literally blown to fragments. The explosion carried nearly the entire roof off the building. One of the shingles struck Mansfield on the head, but frightened more than hurt him. The boiler was located in the old mill. It was bought fitteen months ago, but was then second hand, having been in use six months. Half an hour before the explosion it was examined and the quantity of steam found to be forty-five pounds. The cause of the explosion cannot be determined. The loss caused will reach about $3,000, and will throw fifty men out of employment for two weeks. A third man had a narrow escape, when he heard the first noise he sprung benind the blast furnace and got out of the way. The debris was piled up in every direction. The concussion was neard five or six blocks of. On Bowery street lamps were broken. Under the boiler seven or eight furnaces were broken. six inches in diameter, and contained fifty-

EXTRAORDINARY IMPRISONMENTS IN JERSEY.

There has been much alarm and indignation caused throughout the State by the summary atrest and imprisonment of several dentiats of high standing on a legal technicality. Two rival com-panies, engaged in the manufacture of dental ap. paratus, have been squabbling for a long time about the title to manufacture said articles, and an order was issued from the United States District Court at Trenton, restraining the gentists from purchasing or using the goods of one of the companies, Inasmuch as the cuipability properly rested on the company making the goods without due patent, some of the dentists, acting under legal advice, continued to use their old implements. The result was that they were subpenned to appear in court, and when they proceeded in there were placed under arbitrary arrest, and sentenced some to thirty days' and one to three months' imprisonment. Some of the aggreeded parties are men of high reputation and culture, and their sudden committal to jail like common felons is universally commented on. In Hudson county petitions for their instant release are being signed to-day, and the friends of the imprisoned men express a determination to carry the case to a higher court.

TRIAL OF A SANDY HOOK PILOT.

Pilot Commissioner G. W. Blunt stated yesterday that the trial of pilot Isaac Gamer for stranding the Belgian steamer Auguste André on the ing the Beigian steamer Auguste André on the Romer Shoais, last Sunday, has been set down for next Tuesday. Captain Greve, the commander of said vessel, who, with his first officer, Mr. Malfaisant, was standing on the bridge, alongside the pilot, has been requested by Mr. Blunt to appear to give his testimony. It is understood that the pilot's excuse will be that he mistook during the storm some schooners' lights, at acchor in the lower bay, for the Staten Island lights. The pilot in question has exercised his vocation since 1867, and is highly esteemed by the Pilot Commissioners and his brother pilots.

TOPICS OF THE STREET.

A VISIT TO THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE AND SOME QUIET PACTS THAT MAY AFFECT VALUES-IN-CIDENTS ON THE STREET.

There was little of fresh interest on the street yesterday. The only point of interest from a Stock Exchange standpoint was the meeting of the Executive Committee of the direction in was successfully hammered during the day, the rumor being that the road would pass its February dividend. Inasmuch as this company has not yet got into the habit of paying dividends on its common stock, and only does it con amore or when circumstances justify such an integer on its preferred tity. The meeting yesterday was a protracted one, and the very gentlemanly clerk in the office did not know if it was a meeting of the directors or of an executive committee of such body. If all the employes of the company are equally stupid, whether through the action of nature or "higher authority," one cannot be surprised at the read not paying dividends.

OUR GRAIN SUPPLY. A statement appeared in an evening paper of the 17th as follows -the 17th as follows:—

There are stated to be some 0,000,000 bushels of wheat in store at this port, which is about three times as much as there has been here at the close of navigation since 1871, and exceeds the quantity then in store by 1,000,000 bushels. There is also a full average of other grains. This fact is not a cheerful one for railroad companies, as it is likely to seriously affect their winter business. The daily shipment of grain from Chicago is said to have been reduced to 25,000 bushels. Speculation is consequently active, and both in Chicago and New York the price of wheat has been advanced some 13 cents per bushel from the extreme lowest point.

The building is now completed, but it will not be opened before the 1st of January. Mr. Moody, the superintendent of the road, says that the company has long left the need of better facilities for receiving freight on the east side. The cars will be placed on "fate?" or floating platforms, and be towed down the East River by steamtugs. When loaded they will be taken back in the same way to the company's docks in Harlem. The company will still use its old freight depot in Centre street, Tariff Notes.

THE New YOR Express of last night says:—

Query—What would Mr. Garrett require to accept the the presidency of the Eric Railway?

The following is semi-official:—

I have directed a discontinuance of the suit of The People vs. Jewett, as it was commenced under a misapprehension of my directions.

Synaccsic, Dec. 17, 1874.

SYRACUSE, Dec. 17, 1874.

PER CONTRA.

Messrs. Barrett, Redford & Hill deny the truth of this statement, and assert that, instead of the suit being discontinued, the complaint is only modified in so far as New York Central is involved. suit being discontinued, the complaint is only modified in so far as New York Central is involved in the complaint respecting a combination with regard to freights. There is concurrent testimony on this head in an accompanying statement (which we do not vouch lor) that Mr. Pratt is of counsel for the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company. A great effort has been made to make capital in connection with this suit out of the conflicting statements respecting an injunction. It appears no injunction was granted or asked for, but an order dues tecums, requiring a defendant to produce certain notes before the Court upon a certain day, certainly operated against the negotiation of such notes intermediately and was a bar to a civil right which fully justified its description as an injunction. The people antagonistic to Jewett in this matter seem to have spent a great deal of unnecessary trouble in contravening this story of an injunction which was only descriptive, the true explanation being a distinction without a difference after all. The despatch published above to the Eric counsel from the Attorney General shows his appreciation of the merits of this suit. The contradiction referred to above says virtually the proceeding against Eric was only modified so far as the complaint against their convention with New York Central in regard to freights is concerned. It is stated in well informed circles that defore January 1, 1876, all the suits against Eric will be discontinued. It is to be carneatly hoped, for the quiet of the street and the credit of our country abroad, that such may be the case. Eric is doing well enough now if it could only be left alone.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad having a few days since published at Chicago its winter schedule of rates on East bound freight, which in the main adhered to the cheap rates of the summer, and, therefore, lower than the rates which had been established by the Saratoga combination, it is stated on the authority of a despatch from Indianapolis that the combination have responded by a reduction of seven cents per 100 pounds on all classes of freight, making that of fourth class, it is said, two cents lower than the Baltimore and Ohio rate.

SERIOUS CASUALTIES IN NEWARK. Yesterday afternoon a white boy named Baker and a black boy named White were drowned in the Morris Canal, in Newark, under the Plane street bridge. They fell through the ice while street brage. They led through the ice while skating. Another black boy barely escaped with his life. He was trying to save the others.

Again yesterday afternoon, while gathering couls on the track of the Morris and Essex Railroad, Gustave Meyer, a German boy, was killed by the cars backing down upon bim. He lived with his parents on Drange Street, near Newark.

REVELATION OF A ROBBERY.

OF AN EXPRESS SAFE. It will be remembered that on the 10th of No-vember last one of the boldest express robberies on record was committed at Portland, a small sta-tion on the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroad, a entered at that place, during the absence of the messenger, and the safe, containing several thousand foliars, thrown out. The property was not missed until the train had left the station, and news of the robbery was telegraphed from Manunka Chunk, the next stopping place. Officers were at once set to work tooking up the case.

train started, as he had placed a package on it. This package being subsequently found at Port-land in a ditch along the track proved his story to be untrue, and he was discharged and a watch placed on his movements. The safe was found to be broken open and most of its contents ab-

Clark, the messenger, said that he got his supper at Portland, and the sale was in the car when the placed on his movements. The safe was found to be broken open and most of its contents abstracted.

A lew days afterward the fireman of the train, named George Leonard, was arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the robbery. Insufficient evidence being found against him he was discharged. Certain circumstances connected with the affair satisfied the detectives that he was guilty, and they kept an eye on the fireman and his proceedings.

They learned that he was paying attention to a young lady named Hartie Henry, at Hampton Junction, and a watch was set over her, it being probable that if Leonard had shared in the proceeds of the robbery she would be apt to give some sign that would lead to the crime being lastened on him.

The officer who was detailed to "shadow" Miss Henry soon made the discovery that she had in her possession donsiderable money, much more than her ordinary circumstances would allow. It was ascertained also that she had received several presents of valuable jewelry from her lover. Heing satisfied that these were proceeds of the robbery the officer decided last week to call upon Miss Henry. He told her of his suspicions and requested her to deliver up what money Leonard had given her and save herself trouble. She did not deny having money, but refused to give it up. Search was accordingly made and in a stocking hidden in her room was found $740. Miss Henry then said that she had received $1,040 from Leonard, but he had drawn $200 or $300 of the amount.

LEONARD SCRONES.

Leonard having certain friends and cronies at Peckville, Luzerne county, the officer pursued his investigations there. In the possession of one of Leonard's acquaintances he found $300. The man said that Leenard had deposited it with him some time before for safe keeping.

Needing no further proof of Leonard's guilt, the officer proceeded to limit him up and arrest him. He was not found for two or firree days, but in the early part of this week was traced to Scranton and arrested. On Monday morning he was brought down the road and lodged in jail at Belviere, N. J. He has since made a full confession of the crime. He implicates the messenger, Clark, in the robbery, and the latter was yesterday placed under arrest.

the rolbery, and the latter was yesterday placed under arrest.

Leonard yesterday told the Sheriff of Warren county that the balance of the money taken from the safe was concealed in the eage of a piece of woods near Belvidere. He said he was willing to go with the officers and show them the spot. Accordingly accompanied by another officer, the Sheriff took Leonard to the locality mentioned by him. Turning a large flat stone and digging away some dead leaves the prisoner took out three packages, which were found to contain $3,500.

To add to the sensation created along the line of the road by Leonard's arrest, he was married, just previous to his being taken into custody, to a young lady from Binghamton named Rosa Coleman. She went all the way from that city to Scranton to be united to a man who a few moments later was arrested on a grave charge, which he stands guilty of by his own conlession.

The general impression seems to be that Clark, the messenger, is innocent of any complicity in the robbery, although there seems to be a mystery surrounding him which he cannot satisfactorily clear up.
